Practice Profile

Senghin specialises in business crime and is ranked as a leading barrister by Chambers & Partners and Legal 500. Most of his work involves allegations of the most serious and complex financial wrongdoing, often in high profile cases brought by the Serious Fraud Office or the Financial Conduct Authority.

Senghin takes pride in giving each client his very best. He understands the demands of litigation where the stakes are at their highest and so he takes on only a small number of clients at any one time. They value his ability to deal with the largest investigations and cases, which usually require years of work. His clients include professionals, high net worth individuals, corporates, prosecuting authorities and private prosecutors.

Senghin's current and previous instructions include:

- Acting for the SFO in the prosecution of 2 former Petrofac senior executives charged with bribery in relation to contracts worth over $3 billion (press release);
- Acting for the first defendant in a prosecution brought by the FCA in relation to alleged insider dealing (press release);
- Acting for the SFO in the prosecution of a trader charged with fraud by abuse of position and money laundering (press release);
- Defending in fraud prosecutions brought by the SFO (press release) and The Pensions Regulator (press release) relating to high value investment schemes;
- Defending the solicitor accused of perverting the course of justice in the aftermath of the Hillsborough disaster (judgment). This was a case requiring 4 years of sustained work for which the investigations were described by the CPS as "the largest in English criminal history";
- Representing former Royal Marine Sergeant Alexander Blackman in his application to the Criminal Cases Review Commission and landmark second appeal against conviction for murder which was funded by a campaign run by a national newspaper and spearheaded by the author Frederick Forsyth (Blackman [2017] EWCA Crim 190);
- Representing a doctor in the first contempt proceedings brought against a medical expert, which arose from an exaggerated claim for personal injuries. The judgment on appeal is now the leading authority on the proper approach to sentencing for contempt arising from the making of false witness statements (LVI v Zafar [2019] EWCA Civ 392).

Senghin is well-placed to provide an end-to-end service from the pre-litigation stage through to trial, appeal and/or confiscation:

- He is often instructed to advise on charging decisions, representations against charge, search warrants and other investigatory orders, restraint orders and challenging such decisions, including by judicial review;
- He has substantial trial experience and has appeared in prominent appeals in both divisions of the Court of Appeal;
- He is sought out for his expertise in civil and criminal proceedings under the Proceeds of Crime Act 2002 where large sums are involved, usually for corporate clients;
- He is a specialist in the niche field of contempt, where he has acted for corporate claimants and for defendants in a range of cases from alleged false witness statements to breaches of freezing injunctions.
